RUSSIA WILL HAVE TO SEEK PEACE.

"Until Some Word of Peace Comes Out of Tsarskoe-Selo, Nippon Has But to Fight On.

SO SAYS JAPANESE MINISTER.

Czar's Determination to Contlaue War Discourages the Washington Government.

Washington, May 30 .-- "Until some word of peace comes out of Tsarskoeselo, Nippon has but to fight on.'

This epigramatic remark of Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, made tonight with the details of the victory of the Japanese fleet before him, accurately sets forth not only his opinion, but it is believed that of the Washington and other neutral governments represented here regarding the effect of the battle on Russia's policy. Whether Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, will be the bearer of tha fateful word when he sees the presi dent tomorrow or Thursday remains to be seen, but the ambassador in a conversation with a correspondent of the Associated Press tonight was more emphatic than at any time since the war was declared that the war would go on indefinitely. While admitting that he would see the president in the next few days and have a long confer-next few days and have a long confer-ence on the general situation the am-bassador strongly discourages any hopes of an early peace.

"Perhaps after Lino Yang there was a possibility of peace. I will not say there was not an idea of peace at that a possibility of peace. I will not say there was not an idea of peace at that time in certain quarters, but now, after this crushing defeat, never. The Japanese talk of indemnity, Russia can better use this money in the building of another fleet. Certainly this is not the time when Russia can afford to take up the question of peace."

It is this apparent determination of Russia to continue in the face of disastrous defeats on land and sea which discourages the Washington government at this time from taking any positive steps toward offering assistance to the belligerents in coming to an understanding. It is believed here however, that when Russia, through her own agents, has learned the full extent of her losses she may be approached regarding peace with some hope that overtures will be welcomed, it is such an opportunity for which this government is watching.

Soon after the president returned from New York this evening, Secy, Taft, who had been out of the city for about a week, called at the White House, and was in conference with him for several hours. While the secretary was there dispatches arrived from the Japanese legation giving details of the battle which the president read with keen interest. The president and secretary discussed a number of matters, but the outlook for peace occupied much of their time. It is realized that the crushing character of the Russian defeat gives to the president an opportunity with entire propriety to offer his services to the St. Petersburg government in establishing communication with Tokio, but until it can be learned that such an offer would be probably successful, this government is not inclined to act.

Throughout the diplomatic corps today the keenest intereset was displayed in the news of the conference which Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister, had with the president at the White keen interest. The president and sec-had with the president at the White House last night.

"That marks a step in the direction of peace," said a prominent diplomat, "and it is to be hoped that Russia will recognize, as does the rest of Euwill recognize, as does the rest of Europe the disinterested carnestness with which the president wishes for an ending of the war. Whatever the popular feeling in this country, I think the Russian government will readily admit that the attitude of President Rooseveit, personally and officially has been all that Russia or Japan could ask. If Russia had taken the advice of the president after the battle of Liao Yang she would now be at peace with the world with the greater portion of her navy intact."

This reference was to a conference This reference was to a conference which the president had with Count Cassini soon after the battle of Liao Yang, when the president expressed the opinion that Russia could with dignity and advantage discuss peace terms with Japan at that time and with the certainty that no indemnity would be asked. While careful to transmit the substance of the conversation to his government, the only answer which the government, the only answer which the Russian ambassador received was, "The emperor will continue the war to the bitter end."

Although the state department was officially closed today, Mr. Leomis, the acting secretary of state, was early at his office to read the dispatches arriving from the far east. About 11 o'clock Baron Speck Von Sternburg, the German ambassador, called informally and remained with the secretary for more than an hour discussing the battle and its probable bearing on early ending of the war. The ambassador brought no dispatches from Berlin and told the secretary that he had not heard from his government since the result of the secretary that he had not heard from his government since the result of the battle was known. The ambassador will leave Washington tomorrow for Deer Park, Maine, where he and the baroness have leased a cottage for the early part of June. The ambassador has arranged, however, to be in telephonic communication with his embassy daily and all dispatches will be forwarded to him.

Regarding last night's conference at the White House it is possible now to state that it dealt with details of the battle, and second, with the possible effect of this decisive victory on Russia's previous determination to prolong the war indefinitely. No one here realizes more clearly than the mikado that the exar must be convinced of the overwhelming character of the Russian defeat before he will consider peace, and, close as are the relations between Tokia and Washington, the Japanese government is not inclined through its minister to discuss even with the president definite peace terms until officially assured "in the exar's name that Russia is prepared seriously and in good faith to discuss peace with Japan."

Thus far the Washington government has not received the slightest official intimation that peace is under consideration at $t$. Petersburg but a report on this point is expected very soon from Mr. Meyer, the American ambassador, who was some time ago instructed to make clear at the proper time to the Russian officials that while neither President Roosevelt or any other official of the government is ambitious for the role of peacemaker, Russia would find no power more ready to assist in opening negotiations with Japan than her traditional friend, the Washington government.

Mr. Jusserand, the French ambassador, called at the Russian embassy this afternoon and spent some time with Count Cassini. The visit was, however, of an entirely personal character.

Count Cassini, upon receiving a dispatch from Baron Rosen, that the latter expected to be in Washington early in July, has cabled his successor urging that he reach here in June if possible.

THREE VIOLENT DEATHS. wo Persons Drowned, One

Killed by Falling Tree. Astoria, Ore., May 30.—Three young persons met violent deaths in or hear Astoria today. Two were drowned and one was killed by a falling tree. The drowning accident was unusually sad. A party of young persons, among them Mrs. Ann Seaborg, her daughter, Ann. her son George, Robert Broom and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Olsen went to Greenwood cemetery in a pleasure boat to decorate the graves of friends. On the return the boat was struck by a swell in Young's bay. Miss Seaborg was thrown overboard. Broom jumped after her but as the boat was under good headway the girl was 25 yards astern before he jumped. Broom was a powerful swimmer and soon overtook Miss Seaborg, who had not sunk. TEN THOUSAND Offered by Wealthy New York Family for a Return of a Packet of Letters.

DETECTIVES THINK SON IS THIEF

A Skeleton in the Closet May be Exposed to Public View.

New York, May 31 .- Offers of a $10, 000 reward are published here today for the return of a packet of letters said to have been stelen from the private box of a wealthy family who probably will never be mentioned in the affair, unless a scandal should arise from an expose of the letters' contents, Incidentally it is hoped to recover $60,000 worth of jewels and many thousands of dollars' worth of stock certificates which were stolen at the same time as the letters; but in comparison with the letters, the loss of jewelry is considered insignificant.

Every effort has been made to keep the affair secret,

Some time between March 31 and a few days ago an old-fashioned mahogany chest was stolen from a safe where it was for many years held as the most valuable of the possessions of the women members of the family. A scan-dal in the form of a family skeleton hidden for 15 years from the head of the household was said to have formed the basis of the theft which is believed the basis of the theft which is believed to have grown out of a new romance in the family. The detectives at work on the case say they confidently believe that the son of the household is the thief for whom they are seeking. He is only about 23 years old, a graduate of one of the leading universities. His motive is believed to be the necessity of maintaining the appearance of having a large income during his engagement to a wealthy young society woman. His own family are opposed to the match and have limited his allowance; hence his desire to ac-

At Saltair yesterday the attendance was 7,000. The fact that the manage-ment ran a train out to the beach evment ran a train out to the beach every 45 minutes was appreciated by patrons and at no time during the day were the trains uncomfortably crowded. Up to 2 p. m. it looked as though there would not be a very heavy attendance. In the afternoon, however, families went out in squads and battalions. With the water's temperature hovering around the 60s some 30 people braved the briny and induled in hovering around the 60s some 30 peo-ple braved the briny and indulged in a dip. Dancing, however, was the chief amusement. The new cafe, with chops and steaks at city prices, did a rush-ing business and this innovation was appreciated. The new theater, now be-ing constructed, was inspected with in-terest by the patrons. Taken altogether Saltair is better than ever this Excursion Agent Bean this morning stated that all previous Decoration day attendance records had been shattered with the bir total of pald admissions figuring up in round figures $,500. Of this number Davis county sent her share. The way in which the city and country folks overworked the orchestra was decidedly strenuous. From early in the day to midnight the big new dance hall was crowded and the new floor was voted the best going. Many improvements were noted at Lagoon yesterday. A flotilia of metal boats which has been put into commission was captured early in the day, as were also the merry-go-round and the miniature railway. The moving of the bar to a secluded spot also is a step in the right direction. In about two weeks from date Lagoon will be in its glory with all the roses in full bloom.

Calder's Park opened under the new management auspiciously yesterday and there were numerous plenic parties on the grounds all day. DOLLARS REWARD Coffee Hurt You?

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper, or shout "nonsense, good coffee never hurt anyone."

You know better than that for you can point out all around you folks who are the worse for coffee's slugging. Think over a few coffee-drinking friends and casually enquire if they are entirely and perfectly well and just how coffee treats them.

If it hurts others isn't it just possible?

Catch the drift don't you?

In fact after you have studied the matter a bit it will come plain that if you are a coffee drinker the chances are you already have some form of incipient or perhaps fixed organic disease due entirely to the coffee-constipation, rheumatism, eye trouble, nervous headaches, nervous prostration or others of the well proven coffee ails. You can decline to look the thing squarely in the face and peg along with the coffee.

Every coffee toper tries to wiggle round and charge his aches and alls to weather, overwork, too much or too little food, this, that or the other thing, so it isn't his Master, Coffee.

A Sure Personal Test

will locate the exact cause of your steady destruction of health, if that cause be coffee. It's worth knowing the plain, sober fact before fixed organic, heart or other disease sets in, which perhaps cannot be cured.

The test is pleasant, accurate and satisfying.

Quit coffee absolutely for 10 days and in its place use Postum.

BE SURE the Postum is properly boiled as per directions on pkg. (and that's easy) then you have the famous Food Coffee, with the deep seal brown which turns to rich golden brown when rich cream is added and the flavor is crisp, snappy and soft like the high grades of Old Gov't Java.

If in two or three days you begin to sleep soundly at night, digest your food better, stomach and bowels show signs of recovery, or the old feeling of weakness at the heart leaves, or eyes get stronger and head works clearer, (the ails of coffee drugging are multitudinous) the facts will be before you and
